RATIFY SUFFRAGE

The Amendment Has Now Been Victorious in Thirty-Four States of Union.

SENATOR BLOCH SAVES DAY

Millionaire Manufacturer Raced Across Country to Break the Deadlock-Two More States Needed.

Charleston, W. Va.-The West Virginia legislature has ratified the federal suffrage amendment. Final action on the amendment was taken by senate in adopting the ratificathe tion resolution of the house of delegates, 15 to 14.

The vote of Senator Jesse A. Bloch Wheeling, who made a hurried trip from California to Charleston to vote on the amendment, was effectual in breaking the deadlock between pro and anti-suffragists forces. Senator A. R. Montgomery was not permitted to vote, his seat having been declared vacant.

The final vote on the Anthony amendment was taken at 6:15 o'clock in the senate, after one of the most dramatic sessions ever witnessed in either house of the legislature. For several hours suffrage leaders and their opponents fought in an effort to gain a definite advantage.

Crowded galleries were kept in order with difficulty as each phase of the battle apparently swung in favor of one side or the other. At first, occupants of the galleries took more interest in the Wheeling senator, who was regarded as a considerable sensation by the West Virginians, owing to his importance and the end through which the suffrage forces had brought him to Charleston.

Shortly, however, interest in the senator was thrown into the background, due to issues featuring the contest. These included the action of the senate in declaring vacant the seat of Senator Montgomery, depriv ing him of the vote which would have defeated ratification, and the taking up and adopting of the ratification resolution of the lower house without amending the senate rules, one week after the senate's vote defeating its own resolution on the same subject. Thirty-four states now have ratified the federal suffrage amendment

VILLA IN ROLE OF AVENGER PNEUMONIA LEFT BOY

IN WEST VIRGINIA Force Under Bandit Leader Raids Train in Mexico and Slays Thirty-five Passengers.

> El Paso.-Francisco Villa commanded the bandits who held up and robbed the northbound City of Mexico passenger train near Corralites recently. when thirty-five persons were killed and several held for ransom, including one American, according to passengers who reached Chihuahua City the other day.

According to passengers, the train was stopped by an explosive placed on the track which derailed the locomotive. A pitched battle ensued between fifty Yaqui soldiers of the train guard and Villa followers numbering three hundred, commanded by Francisco Villa in person. Nineteen soldiers, four civilians and ten of the bandits were killed when the fighting ended with the retirement of a sublieutenant and six Yaquis, all of the train guard who remained unwounded.

Villa then herded the passengers to a nearby hill, threatening them with death. Apolinar Ruvalcaba, train conductor, and Jesus Garcia, Pullman conductor, were killed, the latter by a shot from Villa's pistol.

An American, Joseph Williams, an employee of the American Smelting and Refining Company, and M. Nassar, an Arabian passenger, were held for ranson, while another American, R. W. Black, was not detained.

After vainly attempting to break open the express car safe the bandits set fire to the train. Before leaving Villa barangued the passengers, telling them he was not a bandit, but that but that he was fighting of civil liberty and to avenge the death of Gen. Filipe Angeles. He said trains would not be permitted to run.

The passengers walked twenty-four kilometers north, where they were picked up by a train from Jimenez. It is reported that a number of passengers hidden in the cars were burned to death when the train was de stroyed, but this is not confirmed. At the El Paso office of the American Smelting and Refining Company it was said that no report of the capture of Williams had been received. Military officials in Juarez said they had no official teport of the train holdup, and explained the interruption of train service for the last two days as being due to shortage of equipment caused by northbound trains being caught behind bridges burned by reb els south of Chibuahua City.
